

OUR PEOPLE

MALLEE LADS: Nathan Gibbs, Brent Farr and David Gibbs, all of Wunkar.

IN TOWN: Josh Pens, Burra, and Jason Noll, Wilmington.

Genes, diet focus of workshop

WOOL and livestock producers flocked to the Riverland and Mid North last month as the Quality Wool and Livestock Group hosted two Bred Well Fed Well workshops in Melrose and Waikerie.

Almost 40 producers attended the workshops, facilitated by Livestock Logistic's

Darren Gordon and JT Agri-Source's Dr Jason Trompf.

Participants got the chance to learn more about superior genetics as well as feed management for improved reproductive outcomes and flock performance.

The Melrose workshop was hosted by Ian and David

Clarke of Claris-Glen, while Brenton Kroehn of Borung Poll Merino stud played host in Waikerie.

The workshops are a joint initiative between Meat & Livestock Australia and Australian Wool Innovation.

These photographs were supplied.

AG CHAT: Michael Voigt, Wilmington, and Ann Hammat, Washpool.

KICKING BACK: Angus and Will McLachlan, Rosebank, Mount Pleasant, and Nathan Schutz, Murbko.

IDEAS SHARED: Brenton Kroehn, Borung Poll Merino stud, Waikerie, with Chris Gogel, Taylorville.